NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

It is requested that all communications relating to Subscriptions, Advertisements, &c., be addressed to the "Manager, Hongkong Telegraph," and not to the Editor.
Letters on Editorial matters to be sent to "The Editor" and not to individual members of the staff.
Communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as evidence of good faith.
Whilst the columns of the Hongkong Telegraph will always be open for the free discussion by correspondents of all subjects affecting public interests, it must be distinctly understood that the Editor does in no way hold himself responsible for opinions thus expressed.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Advertisers are requested to forward all notices intended for insertion in this paper not later than Three o'clock so as not to retard the early publication of the paper.
Advertisements which are not ordered for a fixed period will be continued until countermanded.
The Hongkong Telegraph has the largest circulation of any English newspaper published in the Far East, and is therefore the best medium for Advertisers. Terms can be learnt on application.
The Hongkong Telegraph's number at the Telephone Central Exchange is No. 1.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1888.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

We would direct attention to the Volunteer notification published in our advertising columns.

The programme of the Shanghai Autumn Race Meeting will be found in another part of this issue.

The American corvette Funita, Capt. W. C. Wise, arrived in harbour this afternoon from Nagasaki.

We are informed by the agents (Messrs. Gibb, Livingstone & Co.) that the "Ben" Line steamer Danvers, from London, left Singapore for this port to-day.

We would remind our readers of the entertainment to be given at the Theatre Royal, City Hall, this evening, by the "Lily" Minstrels of the 85th Regiment.

The China Navigation Co.'s steamer Shanghai, on arriving at Shanghai from Yangtze ports on the 18th inst., reported that the steamer Kuling was lying at Wuhu with her machinery broken down.

We observe from an Australian contemporary that the report that the Marquis of Salisbury had been appointed to succeed Sir William Robinson as Governor of South Australia has been officially contradicted from London.

BRAVO! Mr. Wodehouse! Your sensible and independent action in fining the Indian constable yesterday for brutally treating a Chinese hawker and destroying the poor man's stock-in-trade, will commend itself to every thinking man in the colony. A few sharp reminders of this kind will bring our Indian guardians of the peace to their proper bearings, and show them that their savage and tyrannical conduct in dealing with Chinese will no longer be tolerated.

OUR Macao correspondent informs us that Senhor J. R. Cabral, the Colonial Treasurer, has been appointed Acting Colonial Secretary vice Senhor Costa Duarte who left recently for Lisbon on sick leave. Bishop Medeiros goes on a pastoral visit to Singapore and Malacca on the 26th inst. The election of members who are to constitute the new Municipal Council will take place to-morrow and it is fully anticipated that the recently dissolved Corporation will again be elected, if not unanimously by a vast majority.

SAYS the N. C. Daily News of the 17th inst.—It is reported that the new steamer Smith which has been up to Tientsin to be inspected was pronounced quite unsuitable for the Tientsin trade. She cannot cross the Taku bar, it is said, unless she discharges the whole of her cargo outside and can even then carry very little coal in her bunkers, and has no water ballast. The Viceroy refused to go and see her, but he is nevertheless very determined on making the China Merchants' Company take over the Smith and her consort even if they have to be laid up.

THE S.S. Tianan reports that on Monday last, at 5 p.m., she picked up two canoes with six men in them in Lat. 53° N. Long. 124° 07' E. The head man stated that they left Sciao for Menado eight days ago, but the strong current and wind had set them far to the north, they had no water left, and no food except nine coconuts. The officers pointed out to them the position of Menado, distant 118 miles, but the Tianan said they were afraid to try and get there as the current was still setting so strongly to the north that they could not get back against it. He asked to be landed on the nearest land. The canoes were accordingly hoisted aboard and on the return trip the castaways will be landed at Basilan or Lembehayan. The head man stated that four large prows and six small ones left Sciao together; they were filled with Malays going to Menado to settle. He had not seen the rest of the prows for six days.

TO-MORROW morning between 9 and 10.30 o'clock the steam-launch carrying the Bethel flag will call alongside any vessel hoisting code pennant C, to convey men ashore to 11 a.m. service at St. Peter's Seamen's Church, returning about 12.30.

It appears that Sergeant Butlin, one of the most energetic members of the local Police, will shortly be transferred from Stanley, where he has been in charge for the past twenty-two months, to Hongkong. From a laudatory notice in another column it will be seen that Sergeant Butlin's regime in Stanley has been highly appreciated by the Chinese inhabitants of that picturesque village.

AN Australian paper says—"Every convicted man in Hongkong is weighed just before going to his cell. When his sentence expires he is to weigh exactly the same. If this be not the case, the whole of the officials are censured." Our contemporary suppresses some important particulars. If the prisoner is under weight little bits are cut off each warder and put on the scale, whilst if he is over weight he has the privilege of biting so much off any warder he likes, or dislikes, Major-General Gordon being specially exempted by act of Parliament, except in the case of editors "shopped" for libel.

We would suggest to the Hongkong Steam Launch Company the advisability of running excursion trips during moonlight nights; either round the island or to any of the beautiful and popular places of resort in the vicinity. We think that if a commodious steam launch were advertised to leave Pedder's Wharf, say at 8 p.m., returning at about 12, the vessel would invariably be filled to overflowing by passengers on pleasure bent. A trip round the island in the cool of the evening, in dry weather, and under genial lunar influences, would certainly contribute to the health of our land-locked population, and could not but be a source of pleasure to many a toiler of the office and store after the hard work and oppressive heat of the day. Of course, so far as the Steam Launch Co. is concerned, it is all a matter of dollars and cents. However, we think there is money in our suggestion, and the Company might do worse than give it a fair trial.

REGARDING the running aground of the P. & O. Co.'s outward bound steamer Nepaul in leaving the harbour of Marseilles, Mr. H. H. Joseph, the Shanghai Agent, writes as follows:—"I have received telegraphic advice that the Nepaul, which left London on 6th September, for the Straits and China via Marseilles, and was due here on 22nd October, ran aground, in leaving the Harbour at Marseilles, and made some water in the forehold, where only 50 tons of cargo were stowed. The passengers have proceeded by rail to Hyndis and will come on with the mails in the Surat, which brings on the mails and passengers for China. The Ballaarat is on a voyage to Australia. The information is telegraphed to me officially in contradiction of a very alarmist account of the accident which it is understood has been wired out by Reuters. A subsequent message I have received reports that the damage to ship and cargo is slight, and that the Nepaul is now docking at Marseilles for the necessary repairs."

THE work of the Hongkong Hotel extension goes on apace, and noisily if not merrily. The two new blocks—or to be more accurate—the one block with a longitudinal slit through it, for the purpose of admitting light and air, is already the loftiest building in the Colony, and thus obstructs the outlook from this office in a manner that is at once inconvenient and unsatisfactory. The new annex will have six stories, and although we decidedly and heartily approve of lofty buildings for the business part of the city we can hardly endorse our general approval in this particular case as thoroughly as consistency may demand. Though some distance away from the front windows of our sanctum, this brick and mortar addition to the city shuts out a great deal of landscape and harbour view which heretofore has been alike charming and useful. As the anti-like heathen builders, with their one European master of works, day by day climbed higher and higher, our vision of the harbour and the ships and of the promontory of British Kowloon grew narrower. Finally a large section of the harbour disappeared as thoroughly as if shut out by a palpable darkness, and as the horizontal courses of masonry follow each other, British Kowloon and the range of delectable mountains on the mainland of Confucius vanish behind an aggressive and forbidding curtain of bamboo and bricks.

THIS autumnal equinox, a period which is generally considered critical in these latitudes, being more or less connected with typhoons, thunderstorms and other phenomenal concomitants of what is termed, the 'breaking of the monsoon,' has come and gone this year with softened, stealthy steps, without a blow, an alteration in the atmospheric conditions, or any of the usual equatorial changes in the weather. The only difference we have noted in this year's equinox is an increase of temperature accompanied by an almost perfect calm. While the thermometer registered last year about 82 degrees of heat at this period, a few days ago it above 84, and yesterday it marked 86. This is after all, an equinoctial temperature quite consistent with the extraordinarily hot summer we have had. It would appear that a wave of heat, commencing early in the summer on the Red Sea, had progressed eastwards, enveloped Bombay and Calcutta, advanced along the China coast as far north as Tientsin, and beyond, the capital included. We have all heard of the deaths from sun stroke among the passengers proceeding by steamer up and down the Red Sea during the last few months, of similar casualties in Calcutta, and of the exceptionally high temperature experienced in Shanghai, and all along the northern coast of China. Hongkong has not escaped the deleterious influence of a severe summer by any manner of means. We have had cholera in our midst with fatal effect, and for the first time that dreadful and mysterious disease bird-bird has come to be recognised in the colony. As a compensation for discomfort and even the sufferings entailed by the intense heat, we have been, so far, exceptionally free from typhoons. Barring the two occasions when the colony was very near the edge of the revolving storms which sweep the seas every summer in this part of the world, we have had no trouble whatever from those periodical catastrophes. Our land and floating properties have not in any way been injured this summer. And now that sleepless nights and oppressive days are bound by Nature's inflexible laws to recede into the recesses of the past, may we hope to enjoy a bracing autumn, followed by a regular, invigorating winter, as severe and as protracted as that summer has been well-nigh unbearable. Already masses of cirrus-cumulus clouds are rising mountain-high and darkening the horizon; if any weather forecast can with safety be made at present, it is that abundant rain and a stiff blow will soon bring in their train the long desired Equinoctial change.

It may interest the advocates of railways in China to know that over ninety-five millions of persons travelled by railway in India last year, 89,000,000 being third-class passengers.

At the Police Court to-day Mr. Pollock fined two boatmen $2 each for being found "in shore" before gun-fire this morning. An old offender, although only a young cooie of 20, was also fined for stealing five bamboos, valued at the heavy amount of 40 cents. The prisoner admitted the charge and excused himself on the ground that his late master was always beating him and that was the reason why he ran away from his employment and became a Celestial Uhlán. He was sent to try his hand on the ever ready crank for a period of two months.

We trust that the published correspondence between a number of Indian Merchants and the Government on the case of Police Sergeant Sheik Allim, will convey to our local contemporaries a lesson that will not readily be forgotten. For some time past both the Daily Press and China Mail have been freely indulging in abusive invective against the Governor's action in this matter, and making charges of official tyranny, injustice, and a lot of other atrocities. His Excellency's reply to the Indian merchants' petition is simply crushing; it annihilates the morning paper and completely extinguishes the Fish-Wrangler. Governor des Vieux, instead of having acted harshly towards Sheik Allim, as has been so freely alleged, has acted most fairly and impartially, erring, if anything, on the side of leniency. It now remains for Sheik Allim to atone for his fault by good conduct, and for our evening and morning contemporaries to do penance by the usual course of slavish back-scratching.

FOUR Chinamen residing at No. 90 Queen's Road East appeared at the Police Court this morning before Mr. Pollock in answer to a summons charging them on the 20th inst. with equipping and taking part in a procession passing through Queen's Road without permission of the Government, and also on the same day and in the same place unlawfully assaulting one Jan Singh, he being a police constable then and there in the execution of his duty. Mr. Mossop appeared for three of the defendants; the fourth defendant was not present in answer to his summons but put in an appearance at 10.30 a.m. He is on duty in Queen's Road East, near Ship Street, when he saw the four defendants and others holding an artificial fish and preparing to walk through the road in a procession, also making a great noise. He told second defendant to move on, when he at once threw down the fish calling out "strike," when the crowd assaulted Jan and knocked him down. He only succeeded in arresting one man. He was struck in the head and body by bamboos, and very severely dealt with by being dragged along the ground. The case was here remanded till Saturday the 23rd inst. at 9.30 a.m. $10 being deposited in Court for each of the first, second and third defendants. Bail was allowed the fourth defendant in two sureties of $5.

THE China Mail concludes an acrimonious attack on Mr. H. E. Wodehouse in his capacity of Coroner, in connection with the recent inquiry into the death of a man, who fell from a verandah in Queen's Road West while attempting to escape from a police raid on a supposed gambling house, as follows:—"We have often pointed out that gambling is the root of a large amount of the crime that is committed in the colony. Men and women will do anything to gratify the passion. We hope, therefore, His Excellency will not further stultify the action of the Police." And this is from the person who for weeks past has been continually harping on some alleged official interference, real or imaginary, with the action of the law. We will not follow our mud-headed contemporary in practically deciding—that is to the extent of its own feeble opinion—a case that is still sub-judice; but would merely point out that the China Mail now recommends the Governor to stop the stupid prosecution that has been begun—forgetting, either conveniently or in ignorance that is simply lamentable, that this prosecution is the result of the verdict returned by the Coroner, just that it has been initiated according to law by the Capt. Superintendent of Police, and that his Excellency has no power whatever to interfere at the present stage. If the police officer charged with manslaughter is legally innocent he will most certainly be acquitted, but as he was admittedly guilty of an illegal act in entering the house without a warrant, he cannot reasonably complain now for being held responsible for the consequences of that act. What these consequences may be is for the Court to decide and is at present outside the pale of newspaper discussion—at least by newspapers that lay claim to any self-respect.

TWO sampan wallahs appeared at the Police Court to-day before Mr. Pollock, charged with being in possession yesterday of 6 tacks of prepared opium which is permitted by the Opium Ordinance, and the complainant, Min Lam, an ex-officer, said that from information received at 10 o'clock last night he took a boat and went out into the middle of the harbour where he found the first defendant industriously boiling opium in the hold of his sampan. Just as he arrested the accused another boat pulled up containing about 10 men, amongst whom was the second defendant, who boarded complainant's boat calling out with great volubility "strike him, strike him." A scuffle ensued in which witnesses succeeded by means of his fish in beating the others back and arresting the second defendant, together with the first. His Worship considered the charge proved and fined the first defendant $20 for assaulting the officer while in the execution of his duty, the second defendant being fined $15 for the same offence. Funds being somewhat short the prisoners went to goal for one month and three weeks respectively. Surely some report-mongers or reporters misread the depositions. Two men are charged with being in possession of prepared opium without a permit from the Opium Farmer, and it would appear that the magistrate ignored this charge altogether and sent the accused to goal for an alleged assault on the myrmidon of the Farmer, although it is a hundred to one that Mr. Min Lam did not wear his badge of office, as prescribed by the Opium Ordinance. It has, we are aware, been an occasional practice of the police magistrates to convict accused persons of offences other than those charged against them, but it is a practice that is manifestly unfair and should be once put a stop to. If the Opium Farmer's tort saw no reason to complain of the rough and tumble that was stated to have taken place on board the sampan—the man's own house and castle in the eye of the law be it remembered—we really don't think it was any business of the magistrate's. And we would again observe that these trivial proceedings initiated by the mercenary hirelings of the Opium Farmer are a costly public nuisance, taking up the valuable time of the already overworked and already dangerously crowded "goal" with unfortunate coolies and others of a like class who are not criminals in any sense of the word.

LAWYER—Did you not kiss the plaintiff continually when you called on her? Defendant (in breach of promise suit)—Yes; I never stopped kissing her while I was in the house, but I did that in self-defence, to keep her from singing.

A GOOD cricket story is told by Mr. A. N. Hornby, who annually takes a Lancashire eleven to play eighteen of Nantwich and district, and on one occasion, at the tail of the local team, came in a veritable yoke. He shaped anyhow. The first ball received, one of Crossland's "lightning blasters" hit him on the knee. "How's that?" shouted both Pilling and Crossland. "Not out!" said the umpire. The batsman, however, carefully shouldered his bat, and was to be seen painfully limping for the pavilion. "You're not out," my man, said the umpire. "No," replied the player, "but I'm going."

At the Police Court to-day, before Mr. Pollock, two coolies were charged with the offence of damaging the public roads. The complainant, Adam Moosa, a foreman of the Sanitary Board, said that early this morning he found the accused dragging heavy stones along Robinson Road and damaging it by thus cutting up the surface. The defendants had also been engaged with others not in custody in trundling heavy masses of granite over a wall which borders the road and by such an act damaging the side-walk. Some men had before brought blocks of granite along in the same place but they had used care and precaution against doing damage. The charge being proved the defaulters were sent to goal each for one week, being unable or unwilling to "ante up" to the tune of $2 each.

DOUGLAS STEAMSHIP COMPANY'S ANNUAL MEETING.

The fifth annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Douglas Steamship Company was held at noon to-day, at the Company's offices. Mr. T. E. Davies presided, and the Hon. J. Bell-Irving, Hon. P. Ryrie, Hon. B. Layton, J. F. Holliday, H. L. Dalrymple, E. B. Jorey, J. D. Humphreys, R. Lyall, E. George, J. H. Cox, J. Harman, J. Grant, secretary, and others were present.

The Chairman said that as the report and statement of accounts had been in their hands some time they would as usual be taken as read. He had very little to add to them, but he would be glad to explain any matters. He might say that the earnings of the Company's fleet, as far as the accounts went, were well up to the average. He moved the adoption of the report and balance-sheet.

Mr. Humphreys seconded. He thought both were very satisfactory.—They were accordingly adopted.

Mr. Dalrymple proposed the re-election of the Consulting Committee—The Hon. P. Ryrie, Hon. J. Bell-Irving, and Mr. J. Holliday. Mr. Anton seconded, and it was agreed to. Mr. J. Harman proposed the re-election of Messrs. J. H. Cox and R. Lyall as auditors. Mr. Jorey seconded. Agreed.

The Chairman, having announced that the dividend warrants would be ready on Monday, the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman and managers, proposed by Mr. Dalrymple.

HONGKONG CRICKET CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Club was held this afternoon at the Pavilion, Mr. F. H. O. Wilson being voted to the chair. The report of the Committee for the past season was adopted. It was as follows:—

The Committee have the pleasure of making their annual report on the past season. The accounts which are attached show a balance of $4,395.91 to the credit of the Club on the 31st August last. The usual list of members with the Batting and bowling averages for the season, is annexed.—E. J. Coxon heads the list with a batting average of 25.72. C. E. Higginbotham comes next with 22.40. The highest Bowling average falls to E. O. Smith with 12.42 per wicket, very closely run by E. J. Coxon with 12.43. There were not many heavy scores during the season. The principal scores were A. A. Lloyd, 85, 65 and 53; E. J. Coxon, 61; Major Johnson, 61; C. E. Higginbotham, 57, 56 and 50; and M. D. Graham, 53. In all, the Club played nine matches and was three times defeated; one was drawn. The incessant rain during the latter end of the season accounts for the small number of matches played. The number of members has slightly increased. The Lawn Tennis Championship Cup, presented by the late President, Mr. Atwell Coxon, was finally won by E. J. Coxon. The Club have to thank Colonel Anderson and the Officers of the Northamptonshire Regiment for their kindness in allowing their Band to play on the ground during matches. The Pavilion is in good repair; but the ground may very soon require returfing. The Committee endeavoured to provide during the cricket season as many tennis courts as possible; but owing to the smallness of the ground, it was found to be quite impracticable to have more than three, without curtailing the ground set apart for Cricket practice.

Mr. A. G. Wise moved, and Mr. Stewart Lockhart seconded, the re-election of Mr. W. H. F. Darby as president.

The Chairman suggested that the hon. secretary and hon. treasurer be re-elected. They had devoted a good deal of time to their duties, and could not well be dispensed with.

Mr. A. K. Travers said that he had intended resigning, but as Mr. E. J. Coxon was coming out shortly he would act as hon. sec. until then.

The Chairman moved that he be re-elected to act for the whole year, and Mr. Stokes seconded, both gentlemen were re-elected.

The Committee—Colonel Anderson, Messrs. A. J. Leach, M. D. Graham, F. H. O. Wilson, E. J. Coxon, and T. S. Green, were re-elected, and Mr. T. S. Smith added.

The Chairman then announced that next Saturday the ground would be open for practice, adding that the following week they intended despatching a team to Shanghai, which no doubt would keep up the reputation of the Club. An extraordinary meeting was afterwards held, to alter one of the rules.

THE CASE OF SHEIK ALLIM.

The following correspondence referring to the above named case has been forwarded to us for publication by the Government:—

Hongkong, 19th September, 1888.
Sir,—On behalf of myself and the Signatories I have the honour to forward the enclosed Petition respecting the case of Sergeant Sheik Hallean which I beg you to place before His Excellency the Governor for his favourable consideration.

I understand that Sergeant Sheik Hallean will also forward a Petition under cover by the Superintendent of Police.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
H. M. MEHTA.

The Honourable Frederick Stewart, LL.D.,
Colonial Secretary.

To His Excellency Sir G. William Des Vieux, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of Hongkong and its Dependencies and Vice-Admiral of the same.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Indian-British Merchants residing in the Colony of Hongkong

Sheweth:—

1. That your Petitioners are Indian Merchants and loyal subjects of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Empress of India, and carry on business in Hongkong and elsewhere.

2. That they have known Sheik Hallean, a Sergeant of the Hongkong Police Force, for a number of years, and have every reason to believe that he has served Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain for upwards of 16 years, and has during that time, by his good conduct, deservedly earned the respect and confidence of your Petitioners and all his superior Officers, and he was on the 1st September, 1881, awarded a good conduct medal.

3. That your Petitioners heard with great regret that, owing to the said Sheik Hallean having committed a breach of the Police regulations, he was on the 28th day of August, 1888, deprived of his good conduct medal, a reward earned after many years hard and faithful labour, and much valued by him.

4. Your Petitioners believe that the circumstances which led your Excellency to deprive Sheik Hallean of his medal were as follows:—That his wife, who had possession of his money and valuables to the value of about $1,600, left his house, and that he some time afterwards, from information he received, believed her to be in a house at Sun Wai Lane, and he immediately proceeded to the said house, and without any force or violence made inquiries on the said premises with a view to ascertaining if his wife was there, and it afterwards appeared that she was not.

5. Your Petitioners will not pretend to shield the said Sheik Hallean from the just penalty for any breach of Police regulations, or had he by force or violence attempted to search the premises they would not thus petition your Excellency, but it is only that your petitioners feel that the great severity and true extent of the punishment, which the deprivation of the medal has inflicted upon the said Sheik Hallean, is not fully appreciated by your Excellency, which compels them to approach you, and ask that you will view the fact that Sheik Hallean was seeking for his wife and property as extenuating circumstances in his case.

6. Your petitioners assure your Excellency that the punishment already inflicted upon Sheik Hallean has greatly affected his health and excited him, making him almost unfit to perform his duties as a Police Officer in a proper and efficient manner.

Your petitioners therefore most humbly pray that your Excellency may be pleased to review your decision, extending mercy to an old and a faithful servant of the Crown. And your petitioners will ever pray, &c.

Dated this 19th day of September, 1888.

(Sd.) H. M. MEHTA, and others.

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

21st September, 1888.

Sir,—I am directed by the Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 19th September, 1888, enclosing a petition signed by yourself and other Indian British merchants, praying for the remission of the punishment recently awarded to Sergeant Sheik Allim for a breach of Police discipline.

In reply I am to say that having given his careful consideration to the representations of the petitioners, His Excellency finds they have been misled as to the circumstances of the case, which were by no means of the trivial character indicated in the petition.

According to the admission of the Sergeant to the Police authorities, he, accompanied by two constables, went to a private house and searched it. Whether violence was actually used must now remain a matter of doubt. The categorical assertion of the petition that it was not used having for its warrant only the statement of the Sergeant himself and that of one of the constables who was a partaker in his illegal proceeding, while on the other hand two witnesses deposed that an assault was attempted, and that there was actually committed, what in law amounts to an assault. But whatever may be the case as to actual violence, the statements of various persons corroborated by the fact that one of the two constables accompanied the Sergeant, and the categorical assertion of the petition that it was not used having for its warrant only the statement of the Sergeant himself and that of one of the constables who was a partaker in his illegal proceeding, while on the other hand two witnesses deposed that an assault was attempted, and that there was actually committed, what in law amounts to an assault. was admitted on the 17th at 7 p.m.; his name was Ho A-chun and he had a severe wound in the left groin such as might have been done by a rifle bullet. The cause of death was hemorrhage caused by the wound. The bullet was not found and must have gone right through; the bodies were otherwise lightly.

Dr. P. N. C. Ayres:—I am Colonial Surgeon, and examined the bodies mentioned by Dr. Marques. I concur in each of his opinions, and observed no other signs of violence than those mentioned. I saw no traces of any beating on the head of Pereira. As to the head wound of No. 31 I cannot say whether it was caused by a revolver or a rifle.

To a jurymen—I am not certain whether repeated beatings on the head with a carrying pole would leave any marks or not, as the pole was in the water and the body would bob up and down.

To the Court—I have heard the evidence given by Foulkes in regard to Pereira and do not consider it possible that the beating could have been sustained without leaving some marks.

William H. Foulkes:—I was about 60 or 70 yards from the jetty when the escape was made. When Pereira was assaulted I was not more than five or six yards from him—in the water. I saw him being hit on the head with a carrying pole about 41 feet long.

To a jurymen—I am positive the blows fell on the head of Pereira.

To the Court—I am sure Pereira could swim well; I am not quite certain, but nearly all men of his colour can. When he was hanging to the side of the boat, in the water, was the time when he was struck on the head. The convict held the bamboo in his two hands and the blows were violent.

Dr. Ayres:—The evidence of the last witness I do not consider exactly credible, as there should have been some marks left on the head.

Dr. Canfield:—I assisted at the post mortem on each of the bodies and I agree with Dr. Marques and Dr. Ayres in regard to Pereira; his death was caused by drowning, and I could find no marks of violence on the body; there were none either on the head or elsewhere. I cannot reconcile what I saw with Foulkes' evidence. I do not consider it credible—there must have been some marks.

Foulkes recalled:—I am positive the deceased was struck on the head; others saw it as well as I.

Dr. Canfield, to a jurymen—If violent blows had been struck on the head there must have been some traces either above or under the scalp—some rupture of blood vessels.

Charles Charlson:—I have already been examined in this case; I was stationed about 75 or 100 yards from the police station and saw the men running about fifty yards from me in the direction of the Gal Worker. I could not see Pereira at his station. I saw him when he was in the jetty, and saw him jump into the water. I was about forty yards behind him and following as fast as I could. When he got down, the junk was about ten yards away from the jetty. The prisoners were hoisting the sails and Pereira was trying to stop them. The junk had two masts, the convicts were pulling up the fore-sail. Pereira was shouting away and had something in his hand. The convicts were beating him with bamboos, then he jumped up on the rail near the foremast holding on to the rigging. Two prisoners ran up to him and they commenced struggling; they had him by the waist and the throat. It seemed as if he was preventing them from hoisting the sail, and then all three fell into the water and Pereira started to swim for the shore. One of the prisoners got back into the junk, but I missed the other one. Pereira did not float, but I know he could swim; I have seen him swimming. He sank in about two or three seconds, and did not receive any blows while in the water. I saw clearly all that went on; I saw prisoner No. 130, but not what he was doing. I saw Pereira receive many blows from bamboos while on board the junk, but I could not distinguish who the men were who struck him; his assailants were the prisoners, some of them. If anybody had struck Pereira while he was in the water I think I should have seen it. He swam away from the junk and then sank, but from what cause I do not know. I saw Pereira swimming some time ago—once when a wharf was being built.

David Jones, recalled:—There have been five previous escapes of convicts, the first on the 21st December, 1887—six prisoners ran away on that occasion and one was recaptured; the next occasion was on March 18th, 1887, the next on March 23rd, 1887, the next on March 31st, 1887, when ten men got away from Kennedy Town, by boat, and escaped; the fifth occasion is the one under consideration.

At this point the Coroner adjourned the enquiry, and went with the jury to Kennedy Town to view the scene of the escape.

Inspector Stanton, recalled, said:—I saw two prisoners fall overboard whose clothes, of course, became wet; but prisoner No. 120 I also observed with wet clothes.

Meakins Singh:—I am a Victoria gao guard, and remember Tuesday, September 18th, when I was on duty at Kennedy Town and standing near the jetty from which the prisoners escaped. My orders on taking my station were to look after the prisoners in case they ran away. If they did attempt to escape I was to "shoot my rifle." I saw eight prisoners rushing towards me on the wharf; they came from the place where they had been working, just in front of me. I fired one shot, on which a prisoner took a pole and hit me on the head. He was carrying the pole—a bamboo (shows mark on head). Another man seized me by the waist and threw me on the ground, when another one snatched the rifle out of my hands. The others ran to the junk and then a sentry came and said his rifle could not be used. I took it from him and fired nine shots towards the hold of the junk. I saw turnkey Charlson fire three shots, but I do not know whether the shots took effect or not. While the junk was sailing away I got into a small boat with another officer in order to give chase. At first only eight men made a rush, but afterwards about four more followed. I cannot say whether I hit anybody, or not with my first shot; the prisoners were too close. I followed them down the wharf as the junk sailed away, and went on firing at them. I only went as far as the middle of the wharf. I saw Pereira in the water up to his neck, he was trying to bring the boat back; I was firing at the time, but not looking for him afterwards.

To a jurymen—The rifle which my comrade gave me had nothing the matter with it—he was a new man and did not know how to use it.

To the Coroner:—I was not very badly hurt; I have been to the hospital and am now much better. I was prisoner No. 27 who struck me with the bamboo; I think I could identify the man if I were to see him.

John R. Solomon:—I am a newspaper reporter for the "Daily Press." On the morning of 22nd September I accompanied the Coroner, the jury, and others to the scene of the late disturbance at Kennedy Town.

I have sketched a plan of the work where the convicts were engaged, which I hand into Court.

Alexander H. A. Gordon:—I am Superintendent of Victoria Gao and have been so since May, 1885. I am acquainted with the chain gang and its duties. The gang goes out every day, and the men are taken from long service prisoners. They are governed by the ordinary gao regulations which say that each gang shall consist of not more than 16 prisoners. I am aware that five escapes have taken place since December 1887, and no alterations in any of the rules have been made on that account. The prisoners have been put into double irons, fastened round the waist, in addition to coupling chains which are always in use. This alteration of irons was made about two months ago with the object of preventing the men readily running; the chain is heavier. We have also armed the turnkeys with revolvers since the last escape. I did this on my own responsibility, without orders from the Government. I decided also on the ammunition the turnkeys should have with them. I think it was 10 or 12 rounds, and the ammunition has been in the gao for some 10 or 15 years. It is under the charge of Mr. Jones, who hands it out every morning to a Sikh sergeant, who distributes it to the officers. The expenditure is kept in the stock book. I think on this last occasion there were 70 rounds used. The other precautions have been that a certain number of 6 months prisoners should be coupled to those convicts who are most likely to try to escape, but when the 6 months men go out they have already served 3 months, and consequently have only 3 months to serve, so that they are not likely to turn the risks of getting into serious trouble. The other precautions have been that I applied to the police to have some of their force keep an eye on boats and junks sailing or loading and discharging about Kennedy Town; I believe this has been done. I have also instructed the officers and guards as to keeping a good look out on the prisoners. I believe the prisoners have, by the system of association in the gao at night, many opportunities to plan escapes, with each other.

To a jurymen—The coupling chains are the same as they were three years ago. The turnkey whose revolver got out of order is himself responsible for its condition. The revolver ammunition is old but I have some which is 20 years old and which is still good. I don't think the guard did not know how to fire his revolver. I think the man got excited and tried to fire at half cock. There was a time when the men were exercised at revolver practice, but latterly I have not felt disposed to carry this out on account of the men being pressed for time. [Mr. Wolhouse here interposed with the remark to the jurymen, Mr. George, that his questions exceeded the scope of the present enquiry.] I think four guards are sufficient to keep the prisoners under control.

After a somewhat lengthy and exhaustive summing up by the Coroner the jury retired and after an absence of twenty minutes returned into Court with the following verdict:—The verdict of the jury is, in regard to the deaths of the two prisoners, that of justifiable homicide, respecting some person or persons unknown. Respecting the death of the turnkey Pereira, by drowning, we are of the opinion that he sank from exhaustion caused by his struggles with the prisoners in the junk, and we hereby return a verdict of manslaughter against one or more of the prisoners who were on board the junk, but think that there is not sufficient evidence pointing to any particular individual.

The following rider was attached:—"We desire to call the attention of the authorities to the defect in the organisation of the Gao guards and turnkeys which the present enquiry has brought to light, and we further consider that the number of guards employed in watching the convicts is quite insufficient."

MR. DENNY ON COREAN AFFAIRS.

Under the title of "China and Korea" Mr. Denny has lately printed a pamphlet of some thirty pages. Copies of it have been given by him to private friends and a considerable portion of it not the whole of it has been published in American newspapers. We shall give those parts of it which refer to Korean affairs, omitting long arguments on international law, based on Wheaton, Austin and Wharton, all cited to support Mr. Denny's opinion that Corea is not a vassal of China.

"A vacancy having occurred in the position of Foreign Adviser to the King of Korea and Inspector of Customs, and His Majesty having requested His Excellency Li Chung Tang to procure the services of another, I was in July 1885 invited to the post. I entered upon the duties of Adviser—the Customs branch of the position having been placed under the Customs of China before my arrival in the East—with the assurance that in my efforts to preserve peace and good order and in all that pertained to the prosperity of Korea I should have the cordial support of the Viceroy, an assurance which, I regret to say, has not been verified.

On the contrary from the very first, I have met with almost every conceivable kind of opposition from Chinese sources. The failure of the Viceroy to keep his promise in this regard I am at a loss to understand, unless it is due to the Peking government's disapproval of his Korean policy. In view of this and the fact that China's course seems to me to be unwarrantable and unjust, as well as against the best interests of Korea and China, I determined to avail myself of the present occasion to publicly point out—all efforts of a private character having failed—the dangerous ground China is trying to occupy, and to present Korea's side of the controversy, with a view of correcting if possible, some of the accepted fallacies on the situation in the peninsula Kingdom and its relations with the Celestial Empire which have been so often misrepresented in the native and some of the foreign newspapers in China during the past two or three years, through design or under a misapprehension of the law as well as of the facts. In doing this the harsher criticisms may appear to be the more it is to be regretted that they are merited. First—I shall notice China's claim to vassal or dependent relations with Korea. Second—The former's treatment of her so-called vassal. Third—The charge that the King is weak and unfit to govern the country, and before I have finished, I shall endeavour to show that the former is about as fictitious, as the latter is without foundation.

Their geographical positions under friendly intercourse make them a source of strength to each other, while the fact that Korea has drawn largely upon China's population, language, religion, laws, education, arts, manners, and customs, have contributed so much to the sum total of Korean civilisation, all combine to strengthen the chain of attachment and cause her to look to China, as in the past, for friendly advice rather than in any other direction—and in my judgment nothing will interfere with this friendly relationship but a continuation of the illegal and unjust trade treatment Korea now receives at the hands of the Chinese, and their stupid and persistent attempts to destroy Korea altogether by absorbing the country. It was due to the faith which the King had in China's professions of friendship for Korea that induced his Majesty, when the advisability of making treaties with Western countries was pressed upon him, to take counsel of the distinguished Viceroy at Tientsin, and I know of my own knowledge that it was due to a similar faith in the King that induced the Chung Tang to advise the establishment of such relations as the surest means of improving the condition of the people, as well as of preserving the sovereignty of his kingdom; and later on, when the first of the Western treaties came to be negotiated—which was with America—the Viceroy was invited as the friend of the King, and as having the broadest experience in such important matters to assist in the negotiations. Two drafts were submitted to that convention for consideration, one by the Viceroy and the other by the special envoy who conducted the negotiations for the United States. The very first clause in the Viceroy's draft was a demand for the recognition of vassal or dependent relations between China and Korea, which the agent of the U.S. government declined to consider or even discuss further than to say that as his mission was to make a treaty of commerce and friendship with an independent state, a treaty he would make on none at all. Notwithstanding this, the Viceroy urged the approval of this dependent clause to a point beyond which he could not go, without breaking off negotiations, when he yielded, and the treaty was then concluded upon the basis of other independent states, and was signed at Chemulpo May 22nd, 1882. Even if vassalage had been acknowledged in the American treaty, the negotiators, it would have received the approval of either the U.S. government or the King of Korea. The next treaty that Korea made was in October following, with China and at the latter's request, and while this treaty has been denominated, "rules for the land and water commerce between the trading populations of China and Korea," and while there is the usual misification and vagueness pervading it that characterise all of China's intercourse with the peninsular Kingdom, yet it comes nearer being a treaty of friendship, navigation, and commerce than anything else, as I shall endeavour to point out further on.

Treaties with other countries followed in quick succession in the general tenor of the American one, which were, however, discussed without reference to the Viceroy or the Chinese government. Had vassalage existed between the two countries in accordance with international jurisprudence at the time the American treaty was made does anyone at all versed in public affairs suppose that the Viceroy would have tried so hard to procure its acknowledgement by a friendly power in a public treaty? No. The attempt was based solely on the utter weakness of the position, which no one appeared more fully to realise than the Viceroy himself. After the ratification of the American treaty the question of dependency, for the moment at least, seems to have been abandoned; at all events arrangements were at once made for the enforcement of the stipulations of the treaty: ports were opened, a customs service established by the King, with Inspector, Commissioners and a full staff of officers for the work. Diplomatic representatives were appointed as treaties were ratified, who from time to time, presented their credentials and took their respective places at His Majesty's court in Seoul, among the plenipotentiaries of China, and in the life of His Imperial Majesty's Commissioner printed on his card and appointed in pursuance of the treaty already referred to. This official continued in an unassuming way to represent his government upon terms of equality with his colleagues for more than two years, when he was succeeded by the present Commissioner Yuan—for supposed meritorious services rendered his government in the disturbances of 1884—who, for a short time, followed in the footsteps of his predecessor; but the honour so suddenly thrust upon him seems to have inflamed him to such an extent that serious consequences might have resulted to him had not his indiscreet enthusiasm found vent in the resurrection of the dependency scheme, which, for the credit of his government, ought never again to have come to the surface; for if the conclusion of Japanese and American treaties upon the basis of Korean independence, every article of the latter having been approved by the Viceroy, followed by similar treaties with the leading powers of Europe, and China having shared in their practical operations for two and a half years, did not honourably settle it, the question ought to have finally disappeared when the Li-tao convention was signed, and the terms of which China disposed of whatever right she had left—without the consent of Japan—to send troops to Korea, the only means as a last resort, every independent nation possesses of enforcing its sovereign rights when assailed or called in question. Some time in 1885, after I had been invited to Korea but before my arrival, a policy of absorption, gradual or otherwise, seems to have been decided upon by the Peking government. The position of adviser and inspector of customs was segregated, and the Customs service passed to the control and direction of the Chinese service under the place of assurance that it would be better and more economically administered, and that there was no political significance to be attached to the change, and while the service has been honestly and well administered under the change, yet no one act, since the conclusion of the treaties, has contributed so much to mislead the public mind in regard to the true relations existing between China and Korea politically, than this ill-adviced one on the part of the Korean government.

Neither in the meanwhile was Commissioner Yuan idle, for it was about this time that he adopted as a title for Legation that miserable misnomer and subterfuge, Residency, and in the most insidious way claimed to advise and counsel the King in all his affairs, and upon public and official occasions to assume the rôle of host instead of guest, on the flimsy pretext that he is "at home" in Korea.

NOTES FROM CHINESE PAPERS.

The extension of railways in Chihli and Shantung provinces has now the earnest attention of the Government. The Governor of Shantung, Chang, is in correspondence with the Viceroy Li Hung-chang on the subject, and it is contemplated to set to work as soon as possible to build a line from Teh-chow to Tsai-nan Fu, the provincial capital of Shantung. The country is already being surveyed all along the route.

At Yangchow, Kiangsu province, a certain benevolent gentleman has hired a man to go round hammering on a gong and proclaiming to the people with a loud voice the deleterious effects of eating raw man-flesh, a kind of man-flesh O-liao, says this at propos lecturer, the man has a little black worm at his heart, which poisons the vegetable so that the eaters are attacked with choleraic symptoms. The countrymen, who have to return from Yangchow with full baskets of unsold man-flesh, hang their heads dejected. "Just across the river a district magistrate has also issued a proclamation warning the people against eating raw man-flesh."

The Mixed Court Magistrate issues a proclamation about the new free dispensing hospital for opium smokers at Shanghai. He observes that as England has an anti-opium society, China still more ought to have opium-smokers' hospitals; although there has been an establishment where the drugs could be procured which effected a cure within 20 days, still their cost placed them beyond the reach of the poor. On 6th September, however, a free dispensary was opened in the Ping-kang Li, the regulations under which it distributes relief receive, by this proclamation, official approbation, and all Chinese in the Shanghai Settlements are warned not to obstruct or interfere with the new establishment. This proclamation is dated 19th September, 1888.

AMOY.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

AMOY, 20th September, 1888.

A party of sportsmen left here last Saturday for the district of Che Poh on a tiger slaying expedition. It appears that after tracking the striped denizens of the jungle to their haunts, the sportsmen rigged up a stage against a tree, and after securely tying up a goat as bait about twenty yards off, mounted the stage and waited for whatever the gods would bring them. After watching for several hours the moon went down, and according to the hunters, nothing could be seen through the thick darkness. At all events a tiger came to the lure, and after securing the goat walked off without being molested.

This morning Mr. R. H. Bruce, the genial Infant of Tai & Co., returned home from Che Poh with the biggest tiger that has ever been shot near Amoy. The measurements of this king of the jungle, which I obtained from a reliable source, are as follows:—

Length from nose to tip of tail.....9 ft. 1 in.
Girth round chest.....4 ft. 3 in.
Length of fore-leg.....2 ft. 1 in.
Girth above elbow.....10 in.
Length of paw.....10 in.
Girth of paw.....12 in.
From tip of nose to top of forehead.....14 in.
Breadth of forehead.....14 in.

This tiger, which is a full grown male and splendidly marked, was shot in two places—one about an inch above the right eye and the other just over the left shoulder, apparently breaking the spine. Either shot must have proved fatal.

A fire broke out in Amoy at about half-past ten on the night of the 18th instant and was not extinguished until two of the better class of dwellings had been destroyed. Fortunately no lives were lost.

THE PARSON AND THE JUDGE.

The Melbourne Daily Telegraph, a London and lively-livered production characterised by pith and vigour in the rapid verbiage that passes current among the "unco' guid" as eloquence, rises in its sacerdotal might to denounce Judge Williams for giving to mankind in the columns of an evening contemporary his views on "separation, federation, the Chinese question, and things in general." In the dulcet tones of the paragon of the judicial wig, descended "from the serene heights of the Supreme Court Bench," and committed the unpardonable sin of evidencing the possession of a brain. Perhaps the Melbourne D.T. is of opinion that a judge should be merely a machine for evolving savage sentences and illustrating the quality of mercy by its absence in his composition. At all events, the hymnal compilation of revival driven in question never censures Judge Williams when under the palladium of his official robes and beneath the sanctified covering of wig, he exorcises the manly back of the community by lavishly serving out inhuman sentences involving long terms of soul-destroying incarceration, enlivened by the tuncful swish of that latter-day ally of alleged Christianity—the lash. Then, he is a judge, shadowed by all the grovelling traditions of his caste, his head aureoled around by the "judicial wig," seated on the "serene heights of the Supreme Court Bench." But when he asserts his rights to utter an opinion concerning questions, more pregnant of good and ill to a future mighty people than the seaming and cutting of a miserable convict's flesh, the D.T. arises in holy horror to protest against the "breach of official etiquette." He then, in the language of the clerical organ, becomes a mere citizen who proclaims "his political views from the street corner" and makes a breach in that "unwritten law of propriety and good taste" from the "summit of the Town Hall clock." Which is all rubbish! It is the old argument red-dashed that a policeman or a Civil servant has no right to exercise the franchise. As if the policeman and the Civil servant ceased to be men as soon as they became officials. As if they had not political sympathies even though they were debauched from exercising them. Again, not only the Civil Service, but all Government officials are popularly supposed to be recruited from the most intellectually-cultured of the community. Why, then, should the community be denied the benefit, if any, likely to accrue to it from the political exercise of that intellectual and fostered ability? What must be the condition of a State in which its presumably best minds are perforce silent? Is it fitting that the judge should be gagged where the most important are the most clamorous? That the best intelligence should be stifled where the unemployed and illiterate "bums" are allowed to speak? And that the absurd twaddle about the "serene heights" &c. is the law above the institution that makes and amends it? We have no sympathy with certain recent acts of Judge Williams. We consider that he practically did descend from the "serene heights" of impartial justice when he allowed his coolness in sentencing prisoners to evaporate, and lent by his judicial utterances an aspect of savagery and bravado to the cold and marble features of unimpassioned retribution. But when Judge Williams, in pursuance of his right as a free man in a free country, tells us that the separation of Australia from Great Britain will take place "as surely as the sun will rise to-morrow," and that a contrary opinion is "one which no man can reasonably or honestly believe," we can only commend his clear-sightedness and independence. When he informs a listening Australia that "an irresistible law of evolution makes separation inevitable," we are inclined to endorse the somewhat useful remark of the D.T., that it will tend to give the outside world the opinion "that the policy of separation has some genuine following behind it in this colony," and to wish that more of the gentlemen who sustain "a great judicial office" would come from behind the ermine pall of authority and speak the truth, "impugn it who list." Were the example of Judge Williams followed throughout the Australian movement that all the parsons out of Heaven or of England would be powerless to resist, and all the homiletic diatribes of the Melbourne D.T. too feeble to influence. When the judge strains the beautiful clarity of the creed of Christ, let the journalistic parson preach his sensational sermon in the columns of what-soever paper he likes, and we will reprint it. But this will he never do, for the whiff of the cat and the creek of the gallows fit too well the worship of latter-day Mammon.—Sydney Bulletin.

Insurances.

THE NEGLECT OF LIFE ASSURANCE.

THERE is no feature of our civilised life that strikes a thoughtful man with more force than the neglect of LIFE ASSURANCE. By payment of a small quarterly subscription any man of good health can secure a very large sum to his family in case of premature death, yet hundreds of families brought up in comfort, perhaps in luxury—are left in extreme poverty every year from the bread winner having neglected to assure his life. In the East many a man lives up to his income, knowing well that if death cut him off suddenly, his wife and children would be left almost wholly unprovided for. All this can be prevented by Life Assurance.
